

TIES is an integrative online M.Ed. program

ease into GRADUATE M.Ed. STUDIES with April 2020 EARLY ADMISSIONS

A powerful orientation for Fall studies
Spring-start students benefit from a 6-week seminar beginning in late April.
(Full studies start in September.)

6-week seminar beginning April 20: Mapping Transitions & Integrative Learning

This course offers practical life lessons for adult learners transitioning into graduate level studies, as well as mind mapping tools to help organize ideas and concepts. The April course is just six weeks, freeing up June, July and August before studies begin again in September.

Questions to explore include: *How can recognizing and mapping transitions aid in developing new insights and approaches for learning?
In what ways can these approaches be applied in the context of education and integrative learning?*

As we enter our 4th decade in holistic education, we invite you to explore your passion and cosmic task within an Integrative Learning Master's best described as Montessori for Adults.

The Institute for Educational Studies

In affiliation with

VAN LOAN SCHOOL
AT ENDICOTT COLLEGE

Our graduate program recognizes humanity's integrative nature in the web of life—where content and process merge to foster personal awareness and a global-ecological perspective.

The best way to learn about TIES is to speak to an enrollment guide at: 800-457-5672 or email explore@endicott.edu.

ties-edu.org

Apply by March 30.