

Spirituality and Science: the New Story of the Universe

Stephan Martin

There's a new understanding of how the universe was born and how it has developed over the last 14 billion years. There's a new understanding of how matter and energy behave on the subatomic level. Come gain insights from the New Cosmology that will enrich your spiritual life.

In this program, Stephan Martin will show us how the dynamics that shape the Cosmos also shape our lives. The program will include a presentation, small group interaction, a Q & A session with a panel, and time for reflection. Anyone who would like to know more about Spirituality and the Universe is encouraged to attend. Clergy, chaplains, therapists, spiritual companions, and other caring professionals will find the program greatly enhances their work.
